NASHVILLE TURNER SOCIETY: The German ladies of the city of Nashville have charged me with the honorable duty to offer you as a token of their esteem and friendship, this beautiful flag, which was made far away in our common fartherland. On one side of 6.50 A M it you find the emblem of the Turners, surrounded by a wreath of our German national tree. May your society last as an ornament to the city and to the State, robust and strong like the oak, bidding defiance to every storm. The other side represents the colors of our fatherland, which now is again bent down and menaced by the fury of war. May they be a symbol for you to continue on the way of progress; may they always speak for right and liberty, so that our adopted country may become a secure tust Photograghic Goods, asylum for those of our countrymen whom an unhappy fate will expel from our dearly beloved native country. With the best wishes, on the part of the German ladies, for the welfare of your Society, I hereby offer to you, Mr. Speaker, this flag. Mr. Charles Reese, on the part of the JAMES CAMPRELL. Franklis. Turner Society, on receiving the flag, made some appropriate remarks in response to the address of Miss SCHILDHELM.
